Kayoed By Nazi Bomb

One Nazi bomb was responsible for stopping these five American trucks in Anzio, Allied-held beachhead port through which supplies go for the American and British forces holding off Nazi attacks to the north and northeast. The bomb also damaged buildings . . . and knocked down at least five trees.

Bomb U. S. Hospital

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Correspondent Representing Combined American Press

WITH FIFTH ARMY ON ANZIO BEACHHEAD, Feb. 7 (Delayed) (AP)—Two German fighter-bombers in bright sunlight this afternoon bombed a crowded beachhead evacuation hospital, killing 22 persons and wounding 63, including nurses.

Sixteen of the dead and 43 of the wounded were members of the hospital's American personnel.

Two nurses were killed, three seriously wounded, and one Red Cross girl was wounded.

The figures were given by Lieut.-Col. Hubert L. Blinkley, Denver, Col., hospital executive officer who escaped injury, but the death toll already was mounting as he talked two hours after the raid at 3:30 p. m.

(In Washington the War Department said the nurses were the first to lose their lives through direct enemy action in this war.)

DELIBERATE ATTACK

There apparently was not the remotest reason to doubt that it was a deliberate attack.

Anti-personnel bombs landed at the very edge of the red cross (insignia surmounting the hospital) which is 45 feet square with bars six feet wide.

There was not a single major military objective within a mile radius of the hospital. There also were three other hospitals—all equally plainly marked with red crosses—jammed up against the victim of the attack, making it literally impossible to mistake the sector for anything except a hospital zone.

"One of them came in quite low across the whole hospital area," said Corp. Jeff Young, 24, truck driver of Dayton, O., who had just walked out of his tent as the planes came in. "That pilot knew what he was doing all right—he seemed to aim right at the red cross. I dived for a foxhole and just made it."

OPERATES DURING BOMBING

Lieut.-Col. Howard Patterson, chief surgeon and formerly with the Roosevelt Hospital in New York, was performing a brain operation when the bombs struck. No one was injured in the operating tent but its canvas was liberally riddled. He finished the operation.

Only anti-personnel bombs were dropped. There was some doubt whether the planes did any strafing. Some said they did, others said they didn't. The noise of anti-aircraft guns made it hard to tell.

When the attack was over, the entire surviving personnel of the hospital went into action. Nurses worked with courageous efficiency which won the praise of officers and men.

"You couldn't get me to go home now," said Lieut. Gladys Joyce of Duluth, Minn., grimly as a weary and silent group of nurses stood around a tattered tent at dusk. "Of course they knew what they were doing."

EYEWITNESS ACCOUNT

Correspondent Raynolds Packard gave this description of the attack:

"The German planes came in as low as 500 feet, dropped eight small personnel bombs which sent shrapnel whistling through the hospital tents including two receiving tents, one evacuation tent and two wards tents, one X-ray tent and one operating tent in

German Big Guns Lash Beachhead

By EDWARD KENNEDY

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Feb. 8 (AP)—Waves of German planes struck in heavy attack yesterday at the Allied invasion beachhead below Rome, headquarters announced today, and thunderous artillery shelling continued in prelude to an impending major battle. Nineteen German planes were shot down.

Field dispatches said German artillery poured as many as 700 or 800 shells into a single area in 15 minutes.

American and British troops further consolidated their positions in the bridgehead, and the Germans strengthened their force around the invasion area. Patrols were active, but there were no major land attacks by either side, headquarters added.

NAZIS CLING TO CASSINO

Grim fighting continued in the streets of Cassino to the east and in the mountains around the town. Despite fierce attacks by Americans who have nearly surrounded the town, the Nazis still held three-quarters of it, and had kept open a corridor to their rear lines.

(Doughboy units have pushed within 100 yards of the summit of Mt. Cassino west of the town, the Algiers radio said. The famous Benedictine monastry rises on the crest of the hill.)

Five hundred Germans have been captured by U. S. troops in the Cassino area.

The Germans threw strong relays of bomb-carrying Focke-Wulfs over the Rome area beachhead, and American fighters intercepted them. Some dropped their bombs on Allied troops, but most of the formations were broken up before reaching objectives.

Headquarters disclosed the Germans used flame-throwers, tanks and other weapons in their last major effort against the beachheads—an attack Saturday night west of Cisterna.

Twenty-four German planes and two gliders were shot down during the day in all Italian operations, against loss of five Allied ships.

YANKS GAIN ON HILL

Heavy artillery barrages continued in Cassino area, but field reports said the intensity of street fighting in the town itself slackened yesterday, with troops of both sides wearied by battle.

The Americans made new gains on Mt. Cassino, fighting up its northern slopes against numerous German pillboxes and machine gun nests. The Germans resisted fiercely because the hill dominates Cassino and their corridor to it.

Elsewhere on the Fifth Army front there was active patroling, and a Nazi attack on Mt. Ornito was beaten off.

Allied medium bombers rained explosives on German troops and supplies at Cisterna.

Reds Tighten 2 Death Rings

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, Feb. 8 (AP)—The situation confronting 15 German divisions trapped in the Dnieper Bend grew steadily more desperate today as the Red army cut down thousands of the Axis troops and narrowed the circles of death around the enemy forces at Nikopol and Cherkasy.

At the same time Russian and German troops fought without quarter in the outskirts of the rich manganese center of Nikopol. As the bewildered Fascists fell back before the fierceness of the Soviet onslaught, other troops of Gen. Malinovsky's Third Ukrainian Army came to grips with the remnants of five fast-tiring divisions effectively trapped in the Dnieper marshlands.

One hundred miles north of Nikopol the First and Second Ukrainian armies under Gens. Vatuin and Konev reduced the Nazi-held Cherkasy pocket to approximately 40 square miles by capturing five fortified towns. Red artillery is within range of German airfields, which offer the sole means of escape to survivors of the 100,000 troops penned in this Russian death trap.

A front line dispatch said great disorder prevailed in Nikopol, with streets clogged with loaded trucks and cars of German officers as the Russians cut off the garrison from escape to the west. From the east other Red units battered into the city.

The dispatch reported the "slaughter" of German troops who tried to escape across the mud flats south and southwest of Nikopol.

Metal Shortage Hits Nazi Teeth

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 — A study of dental work in 1100 German army prisoners reveals a shortage of certain metals in the Reich.

As a substitute for amalgam—the compound of silver, zinc, tin, copper and mercury usually employed in filling teeth—the Germans are using a synthetic filling which weakens quickly and results in recurrent decay.

This was reported today by Capt. Raymond E. Frutiger of the U. S. Army Dental Corps, stationed at a prison camp in Illinois. He quoted a former Nazi dentist among the prisoners as saying the Germans have been short of amalgam since 1940.

American probing into the Nazi mouth also revealed something fancy in bridge and crown work—stainless steel appliances which were of high luster and resistant to corrosion.

Japs on Atolls In Trap

By CLINTON GREEN

PEARL HARBOR, Feb. 8 (INS)—Scores of thousands of Jap marines, airmen, ground crews, infantry, sailors and laborers are trapped in the Marshall Islands. Abandoned by Tokyo, they face starvation.

Supplies cut off by our planes and warships, the garrisons of the remaining 32 Marshall atolls still in Jap hands face certain destruction.

Since the Japs expected the American attack to hit atolls nearer Pearl Harbor than the Kwajaleins, garrison strength on Wotje, Maleolap, Jaluit and Mille may well exceed that of Kwajalein where more than 9000 Japs were killed, wounded or captured.

Erikub, Lae, Ujae, Silingalapalap, Namu and Jabot are manned by garrisons in lesser strength.

Jap aerial strength in the Marshalls undoubtedly has been completely wiped out. U. S. planes are believed carrying out a devastating aerial bombardment through the islands.

Additional landings were rumored in the Kwajalein area during the last two days. Such landings were considered a part of the mopping-up operations.

Seabees are expected to have the airfield on Roi island, at the northern tip of the Kwajalein atoll, ready for service soon.

Admr. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, released casualty figures on the initial phases of the Kwajalein invasion.

American casualties, including killed, wounded and missing totalled 1516, against known Jap casualties totalling 8386, including 8122 slain and 264 taken prisoners, some wounded.

These figures show that for every American who gave his life nearly 30 Japs were killed.

Sixty per cent of the casualties were suffered by veterans of the Army's Seventh Division.

Yank Bombs Rip Frankfurt Again

LONDON, Feb. 8 (AP)—American Flying Fortresses in force thundered bombs on Frankfurt again today and the fury of their attack left no doubt that the obliteration of another great German manufacturing center was well begun.

While the Fortresses made their 400-mile penetration of Germany under the protection of long-range fighters, an independent force of Libcrators droned across the channel to join swift flights of American Marauders and British Typhoons and Hurricanes in a concentrated pounding of targets in northern France.

CARMEN DEE BARNES
Novelist Named in Separation Suit

Sues Yogi Mate, Names Beauty High Priestess

NEW YORK, Feb. 8—When her husband started standing on his head and eating nothing but raw carrots, Mrs. Florence Street, former film actress, had only sympathy for his new found cult, Yogi.

But when he began to squat like a Buddha and solemnly informed her he was spinning around in "a complete new cycle" with a beautiful high priestess, she thought it was time to take action.

And this she did in a separation suit from the husband, Robert A. Street, radio executive, which today is on file in Manhattan Supreme Court.

In her petition, which seeks $200 a week temporary alimony, Mrs. Street names the high priestess as the novelist, Carmen Dee Barnes, famed in New York and Hollywood for her novels, dancing, sculpture and most recently for her Hindu arts.

After meeting the novelist in 1942, Street changed his religion and became a Yogi, of which cult Miss Barnes "is a sponsor and high priestess," according to the petitioner.

This new cult "has interfered with his mental attitude and his sexual outlook on married life," according to the affidavit. Now, he admits he has "a new life, new love, new hope and a complete new cycle," the disturbed wife charges.

Miss Barnes' delving into Hindu arts is not the first time that has brought her to public attention.

As a teen-age schoolgirl, she was dismissed from a fashionable New York school when it finally became known that she was the author of "Schoolgirl."

Later she went to Hollywood to write scripts and during the second week of her employment attracted the attention of talent scouts. They gave her a screen test and right away she had a part and a contract in a play she also authored.

At the time of her dismissal from school, her most loyal supporter was her step-father, George Pullen Jackson, a native of Monson, Me., and then professor of German at Vanderbilt University.

Lake in Talks With Wounded

By AUSTEN LAKE

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (By Transport Plane) — Here and there, as I mooch around Britain's bush country—the bosky dells and pretty dingles off the beaten tourist track, I meet a U. S. Soldier who has felt the bite of enemy steel. These are the "lightly wounded," never the mutilated or disfigured. For those long since, have been evacuated.

But men who have been hit-and-healed, like Pvt. Bill Koumanelis of 236 Lincoln st., Winthrop, whose legs were pierced by shrapnel "down yonder," as they speak of the Mediterranean. And like Bill, they usually hedge. "Why . . uh . . It really wasn't much—almost nothing," as though trying to hide a secret sorrow, and then as a corollary, "It happened so quickly and it seems so long ago."

Here is the most repetitious phrase of the war—"It seems so long ago," as though men find it hard to focus the fuzzy image of old memory. For time, the great healer, also acts as an anesthesist, so that "forgetfulness" becomes one of nature's most merciful narcotics. It dulls ugly memories, and culls out, selectively, that which is worth recalling. Though not always — and when this function fails that man, or those men, crack under the vivid recollection of horrid images which fail to fade — somewhat as overheated glass cracks under a draft of cold water.

SEES OPERATION

I came recently from a base hospital—not the Harvard unit (censored) where I watched a ward surgeon — a prematurely bald, weary and myopic little man —picking spicules of bone from a soldier's injured foot. "A small instrument, please," he would murmur softly to the nurse, and with what seemed to me, exaggerated gratefulness, "Ahhhh, yes."

The soldier's only sound was that of a man yawning sleepily, strained through the pillow-corner stuffed in his mouth. He lifted the ridges of his scalp and gripped the frame of the operating table with a hairy hand on which was tatooed a "bleeding heart." And when it was done the little surgeon winked hard—the exaggerated wink of a minstrel end man, and said, "Tough war, hey?" The soldier winked back with a facial jerk that was pure bravado. Perhaps he too, some day soon, will be saying, "Why . . . uh . . . it really wasn't bad at all." But he'll lie! I saw it!

Shall I confess—one without any implication of personal vanity, but something that has been a priceless reward to this writer in his troupings through the American ground forces. It is when Greater Boston men extend calloused hands in sudden recognition, and say, "O yeh, I know you . . ." It's more than a formal handshake. It's a fraternal grip with a mutual bond of home fellowship.

RESTRAINT RELEASED

And instantly the plug of self constraint that bottles up most soldier's confidence with strangers, is released with a flood of chat—as though from an opened spigot. Men like Pfc. Frank Rogers of 73 Highland ave., Arlington, who used to build landing barges for George Lawley's shipyard, and might one day, use those very boats for the purpose they were designed. And Pvt. James A. Mahoney of 806 Broadway, Lowell—a come-lately soldier, who is fresh from high school and boasts a loyal letter writer in Mary Hodgson. And Pvt. James F. Parmenter of 55 Farrington st., Brockton, who by one of those rare examples of Army logic, is doing exactly the thing which he did in civil life when he was a mechanic for George Bailey's Buick Co.

And there is slim, straw-haired Pvt. Pete J. Cusack of 25 Spencer ave., Somerville, who came to the U. S. from County Cavan, Ireland, eight years ago, to stay with his Aunt Katherine Metnas, and who plans to spend his furlough on his native heath. And Pfc. Edward F. Trainor of 26 Main st., Woburn, who used to fill First National orders in Stoneham, where his favorite correspondent, June Doherty, lives.

Lake Tells How Yank Ingenuity Amazes British

Austen Lake, Boston American war correspondent in Britain with New England's Berlin-bound fighting men, tells tomorrow of the typical English village where so many of your loved ones are billeted.

The rural Englishman can "never get used to the amazing speed with which American troops rig up a shower bath," Lake relates in telling of the natives' reactions to Americans being camped in their midst.

2000 More Vets Soon to Receive Muster Out Pay

Working smoothly and with astonishing speed, the Army's Regional Finance office in Boston today took up 2000 more applications after paying out $50,000 to the first 500 discharged veterans of World War II to apply for mustering out pay.

Although President Roosevelt signed the bill only last Friday, the first veterans to apply received a check from the mailman today.

Col. Harold S. Ruth, officer in charge in Boston, estimated that any application properly filed will bring the applying veteran his money within one week from now on. He stressed, however, that all applications must be accompanied with the veteran's discharge papers. A copy will not do.

WHAT VET MUST DO

Here is what discharged veterans must do to receive their money:

A veteran discharged or relieved from active duty after approval of the law will receive his payment without the necessity of filing an application.

A man released prior to the approval of the law must submit a certificate of discharge or service or submit an informal type of certified application stating his name and address; service number or file number; that he was not discharged to accept employment without service outside the United States; that he is not now on active duty; that he has not made any other application for mustering-out pay; the state in which he lived when inducted, and whether he has had foreign service.

If a veteran is a resident of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Hampshire or Maine, and honorably discharged from the Army, he can apply in person or mail in his application to 80 Federal st.

Residents of Vermont will make application to the U. S. Army Finance Office, Schenectady, N. Y.

Enlisted veterans of the Navy and Coast Guard in New England must make their applications through the Field Branch, Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, Cleveland, Ohio. Naval officers will write to the Bureau of Naval Personnel, Navy Dept., Washington.

LENGTH OF SERVICE

Marine Corps enlisted veterans and officers will both write to the Commandant of the Marine Corps, Washington, D. C.

Coast Guard officers will file with the U. S. Coast Guard Headquarters, Washington, D. C.

The amount of money a veteran will receive will be determined by his length of service and whether or not he has had any foreign service.

If a veteran has been in the service less than 60 days, he is entitled to $100. If more than 60 days service within the continental limits of the United States, he will receive two checks of $100 each in two monthly installments. If he has had any foreign service, three monthly installments of $100 will be paid.

Overseas?

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Army finance office is trying to figure this one out:

William Siminoff was aboard a troop ship in mid-ocean Dec. 7, 1941—Pearl Harbor day—when it was ordered back to the United States.

The problem: Had he served overseas, thereby entitling him to an extra $100 mustering-out pay?

Vatican Protests Invasion of Church

LONDON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Armed Fascist guards forced their way into historic St. Paul's Basilica, about a mile outside the wall of Rome, last Thursday, thereby violating the Vatican's extra-territoriality rights, the Vatican radio said last night.

The broadcast, quoting the Vatican newspaper Osservatore Romano, said a "formal strong protest" has been filed over the violation of these rights, "guaranteed by solemn treaties." Thirteen buildings in Rome, besides Vatican City, enjoy the rights, placing them out of the jurisdiction of local and state authorities.

Describing the forced entry into St. Paul's, one of the four major basilicas in the world, the Swiss newspaper Basler Nachrichten said the Fascist police, ignoring protests of the rector, searched the church from cellar to roof and arrested 64 persons.

Russia Continues Criticism of Vatican

MOSCOW, Feb. 8 (AP)—Soviet Russian agitation against the Vatican continued today with the publication in all newspapers of a New York story by Tass containing comments on a pamphlet by a German refugee, Leopold Mannaberg, titled "Vatican Policy in Europe."

The Tass (official Soviet news agency) dispatch said the pamphlet "emphasizes the leading role the Vatican played in the Fascists' and Nazis' rise to power and the Vatican's continuous support of the world's reactionary forces."

It declared it was typical that "the Vatican supported Nazism in Germany because it could not wage a struggle against Russia without the aid of Germany."

Hope for Newton Flier Fades

Hope for the safe return of Lieut. Robert W. Hanson of Newtonville, the South Pacific's "20-Day Terror," faded today as news dispatches from Guadalcanal told of the crash of the Corsair plane which ended the ace's sensational career.

Lieut. Hanson's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Harry A. Hanson of Brooks ave., Newtonville, disclosed Saturday they had received word from the Marine Corps commandant in Washington that their son was missing.

The Newtonville ace shot down 20 Jap planes in 17 days over Rabaul and had 25 planes in all to his credit, only one short of the record of 26 jointly held by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacher in the last war, Maj. Joe Foss and Maj. Gregory Boyington.

10 Chief Terms of Armistice Draft Outlined

By KINGSBURY SMITH

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (INS)—Diplomatic sources foresaw today a stern but just peace for Germany under the armistice terms likely to be imposed by the Allies.

Disclosure the American, British and Soviet governments are now giving consideration to this problem stirred speculation on the probable nature of the armistice terms.

The view prevailed in some diplomatic circles that the main points of the American government's armistice terms probably would be along the following lines:

1—Immediate cessation of all resistance to the Allied forces.

2—Withdrawal of all German forces from all occupied territories in Europe.

3—Effective measures to prevent the destruction of German military, naval and air equipment and supplies, which must be placed at the disposal of the Allied forces.

4—Prevent the destruction of, or interference with, transportation and communication facilities in Germany and the territories from which the Germans withdraw, all of which are to be turned over to Allied supervision.

5—Prevent the destruction of industrial plants and machinery.

6—Accept a supreme Allied military government for Germany which would direct the occupation of the country by the United Nations forces.

7—Help apprehend and turn over to the supreme Allied military command all Nazi leaders, including Adolf Hitler, and war criminals whose names appear on the United Nations' atrocity blacklist.

8—Accept certain economic and financial conditions to be imposed by the Allied military government.

9—Facilitate the removal from public office of all Nazi party officials as directed by the Allied command.

10—Return all Allied war prisoners now held by the Germans, and assure protection to all foreign labor in German hands pending arrangements for the return of these workers to their homelands.

Secretary Hull told his news conference the State Department is now engaged in making notes and memoranda on the armistice terms for Germany. When the American draft has been completed, it will be submitted to the Allied European advisory council in London.

Senate Snarls War Vote Issue

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Weary and somewhat confused, the Senate today was back where it started from on the question of votes for the armed forces: Shall it be federal ballots, state ballots or a little of each?

The Senate yesterday got the Administration's Green-Lucas bill for federal war ballots in shape for final passage, then laid it aside to take up a House-passed "States Rights" bill.

Majority Leader Barkley (D.) of Kentucky, promptly offered the war ballot proposal as an amendment to the "States Rights" bill and suggested the whole business be bundled up and sent to a conference of Senate and House members to try to work out a compromise.

Urges Britain Match Red Coup

LONDON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Laborite Rhys Davies said today he planned to ask Prime Minister Churchill in Commons for a British counterstroke to Russia's recent action in granting the 16 Soviet republics the power to make separate treaties with other nations.

He declared he would ask whether the British government "will consider granting similar status to parts of the British empire, including Scotland and Wales, where the population is much larger than in some of the 16 separate Russian units now established."

Russia, he asserted, is now entitled to have 16 separate representatives "at any conference of a world peace organization."

At the same time, Laborite R. Sorensen said he would question Foreign Secretary Eden in connection with investigation of Jap treatment of Allied war prisoners.

Stilwell Bombers Keep Blasting Japs

CHUNGKING, Feb. 8 (AP)—U. S. 14th Air Force Liberators poured three tons of bombs on an ordnance plant at Bangkok, capital of Thailand, Saturday night, starting many fires, Gen. Stilwell's headquarters announced today.

Medium Mitchell bombers flew into French Indo-China Sunday, destroyed railroad bridges and trains, strafing industrial buildings and blowing up a locomotive at Dong Hoi, the communique added.

So Sorry!

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (INS), The Tokyo radio broadcast an official announcement that Vice Admiral Teruo Akiyama had been killed in action "on the southern front."

Then the announcement continued with the bland assertion that the late Akiyama had rendered "meritorious" service in "crushing the enemy American fleet at one stroke in the night attack at the mouth of a certain bay during a certain month last year."

F. D. Must Sign Tax Bill or Lose Cash

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Time, the Constitution and a three-line clause in the $2,315,200,000 tax bill combined today to make it impossible for President Roosevelt to allow the measure to become law without his signature unless he is willing to lose more than $87,000,000 in potential revenue.

The measure, which Roosevelt criticized recently as unrealistic and which blocks a social security payroll tax increase which he thinks should take effect, cannot actually reach the White House before Wednesday, according to enrolling clerks, although it received final congressional approval yesterday.

If Mr. Roosevelt then decides to allow it to become law without signing it, it would take effect under the Constitution 10 days later (Sundays excepted), or Feb. 21.

However, the bill provides that the $1,051,300,000 in excise tax increases "shall take effect on the first day of the first month which begins more than 10 days after the date of the enactment of this act." Non-signature would make the effective date April 1, rather than March 1, with a consequent potential loss of one-twelfth of a year's excise tax additions.

'Fats' Waller Cuts Off Widow

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP) — Thomas "Fats" Waller, Negro jazz composer and musician, cut off his widow Edith with the minimum bequest allowed by law "for reasons fully known to her," the filing of his will for probate disclosed.

The will, dated Oct. 1943, less than two months before he died of a heart ailment on a railroad train in Kansas City, left the major income from his estate of "more than $20,000" to Anita Rutherford, whom the will said was known also as Anita Rutherford Waller.

She and Waller lived in Jamaica, Queens, and the widow resided in the Bronx, the probate petition said.

Fall River Unions Defy Army, Won't Halt Strike

FALL RIVER, Feb. 8—After what they called a "stormy session" with Army officers, craft union officials declared today they would not ask textile workers to call off the two-month strike which has crippled the industry here and closed 10 mills.

The plants were taken over by the War Department after the strikers ignored a back-to-work order by the War Labor Board.

The strikers, 800 members of three independent unions, objected to a management-labor contract which makes the United Textile Workers of America, CIO, sole bargaining agent and gives its members preferential hiring. As a result of the walkout 4000 UTW members were forced into idleness.

Members of the strikers' negotiating committee came out of a conference with Army officers resolved to make no recommendations tonight when the strikers hold a mass meeting in Weavers' hall.

The negotiators said they would merely report to the meeting what happened at the conference.

"We're going to leave it up to the rank and file," said one.

Another asserted the Army officers had done "a lot of 'flag waving.'"

He added: "They asked the men to go back to their jobs under the same conditions under which they struck."

ARMY PLANS ACTION

Scant comment was forthcoming from Col. Curtis G. Pratt, ordnance officer in charge of the mills for the War Department.

Asked what steps would be taken if the strikers refused to return, he said: "Appropriate measures." He added: "But we are not going to cross any bridges before we come to them."

Col. Pratt had expressed confidence yesterday that mill operations would be resumed on regular schedule by tomorrow.

Under Army control are plants of the Berkshire Fine Spinning Co., Sagamore Mills, Richard Borden Co., Bourne Mills, Howard Arthur Mills, Arkwright Mills and Borden Mfg. Co.

Token guards of two officers are stationed at each plant.

Tax Evaders Fined $60,000 and Jailed

HARTFORD, Ct., Feb. 8—Penitentiary terms and fines totaling $60,000 were imposed on Almon B. and Louis C. Hall, Wallingford brothers, following nolo pleas in federal court here to charges of evading income tax payments for 1936-37-38.

Operators of one of the largest day-old chick farms in the country, they were granted one week to settle their affairs. Almon was sentenced to three years and fined $40,000, Louis 18 months and a fine of $20,000.

He Wills $10,000 To Hunt Polish Kin

When the Nazis are driven from Austrog, Poland, search will be made for two brothers, a sister, four nephews and two nieces of the late Harry I. Lyons of Brookline, according to terms of the latter's will now on file in probate court at Dedham.

Lyons left $10,000 of his $250,000 estate for "diligent" search for his relatives, unreported since the Nazis marched into Poland in 1939. Any that are found are to be given $1000 immediately.

Train Smash Ties Topsfield Riders

TOPSFIELD, Feb. 8—Sixty residents of this town, many of them business executives, had to thumb rides on the Newburyport turnpike this morning when their Boston-bound train hit a truck soon after leaving the station.

The locomotive was badly damaged and the truck demolished but its driver, Robert C. King of Washington ave., Chelsea, suffered only minor injuries.

3 Sailors Beat Doctor, Steal Car

Three men in Navy uniforms, whom Dr. Elmer H. Gillespie, Beacon st., Brookline, physician, invited to be his guests at a dinner in a Chinatown restaurant, showed their gratitude early today by beating him and stealing his car.

The attack occurred at Hereford and Boylston sts., Back Bay, within 50 feet of Back Bay police station.

Somerville Navy Officer Dies

Deputy Police Chief Charles J. Sharry of Somerville, on military leave with the Navy for the past year, died today in Newport, R. I., Naval Hospital after a short illness.

A veteran of World War I, when he served with the Army as a lieutenant, he entered the Navy last year and was a lieutenant-commander on duty with the Shore Patrol at Newport. He was 53 years old.

He was the son of the late Patrolman Martin Sharry of Somerville and was appointed to the department Dec. 26, 1912. He became a sergeant in 1923 and four years later was promoted to lieutenant. In 1929 he was appointed captain and became a deputy chief in 1932.

He was prominent in Massachusetts police affairs for many years and was a past president of Massachusets Police Ass'n and the Somerville Police Relief Ass'n.

He leaves his daughter, Miss Betty Sharry of Powder House blvd., Somerville, and three sisters.

BRIDE FIGHTS TO FREE MATE FROM JAIL

Firm in her faith in her husband, whose bride she became during a wedding ceremony in Lynn police headquarters after he was arraigned on larceny charges, Mrs. Herbert S. Priest, 23, today sought to raise $5000 bail needed to obtain his release from Salem jail.

The girl, the former Miss Dorothy Beaumont of Western ave., Lynn, and Priest, a 24-year-old merchant marine veteran whose home is in Swampscott, had filed marriage intentions on Jan. 25 and received their license Jan. 31.

Police claim that on Jan. 25, the day they filed their intentions, Priest assaulted and attempted to rob Mrs. Mary A. Noonon, a General Electric Co. employee, near her home. He pleaded not guilty to this charge, but admitted breaking into the Severance st. home of a Lynn restaurant owner.

Herbert Priest

Refusing to let her sweetheart's arrest interrupt her wedding plans, Miss Beaumont arranged for Clerk of Court Joseph L. Barry of Lynn to perform a marriage ceremony, shortly after Judge Ralph W. Reeve ordered Priest held in $5000.

The wedding took place in the inspectors' office at the police station, with Inspector Frank Stevens acting as best man. Miss Mildred L. Hansen of Lynn was bridesmaid.

Police let the couple have five minutes to themselves after the exchange of vows, then Priest was taken to Salem jail. The bridegroom's next date is for a court hearing Monday. Honeymoon plans

Yanks' Technique KO's Jap Pillboxes

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN

KWAJALEIN ISLAND, Feb. 1 (delayed)—Here is a blueprint of anti-pillbox technique as used in this Marshall Island cleanup:

Staff Sergt. Jack Martin of Tennessee and another rifleman run close to the pillbox and pour a stream of rifle bullets at it to keep the Japs under cover while Pvt. Edgar A. Johnson, 24, of Jonesboro, Ill., moves up with a flame-thrower.

The riflemen run back as the flame-thrower moves into position, all alone before the pillbox. Johnson squirts one sheet of flame directly at the door, another obliquely at the door, and a third at the concrete wall.

RELOAD FLAME-HURLERS

Flame fuel consumed, he drops back a few yards to refill. Asked if he got his Jap he says: "I think so, sir, but I wouldn't want to say."

Johnson thinks Martin is great. "He gave me such good cover I got right in there close," he says. "If riflemen do that every time it would be great."

Without a letup soldiers move forward to the next pillbox. Tank No. 13 throws a few 37's at the box. The flame-throwers are refueling, so they are not used.

Riflemen shoot lots of rounds. A machine gun, newly arrived, covers the slot with steady fire. Grenades are thrown. No. 13 continues to fire.

TOSSES "SATCHEL CHARGE"

Finally an engineer with spectacles trudges up with TNT wrapped in square gunnysacking and bound with wire. This is the "satchel charge" engineers make themselves.

Under rifle and machine gun cover, Corp. Chester M. Gibson, 24, of Apache, Okla., crouches low and moves close as possible to the box.

Sergeants shout, "Everybody down," and everyone hugs the earth as Gibson throws the charge and grabs the earth himself.

The blast which blows up the pillbox stuns everyone in a wide radius. The ground shakes and ears tingle.

That is what communiques refer to as "mopping up,' 'a term which makes it look easy.

It isn't.

Foley Backs Plan Of Prisoner Swap

Dr. Patrick J. Foley, chairman of the Boston School Committee, today joined the ranks of Boston leaders urging an International Commission to negotiate the return of American civilians now held prisoners by the Japanese.

"The creation of an International Commission to work with Japan through some neutral country for a swap of prisoners is one of the best ideas I have heard of," Dr. Foley said.

"Who would head such a commission would make no difference, but former Ambassador Joseph C. Grew would be an excellent choice as he talks the language and has a number of friends in Japan.

"Such a commission, I am sure, would have the backing of every member of the Boston School Department. It would, I am sure, be supported by every citizen in the country.

"Members of our national House and Senate should make it their duty to see that such a commission is organized and give it the authority it needs to act promptly for success."

Another who backed the campaign was Clarence D. Hill, state commander of the Disabled American Veterans.

"Every member of our organization," Hill pledged, "will lend his every effort to the work of such a commission which would be organized at once and utilize every possible means for prompt action."

City OPA Court Plan Outlined

In a move to have more rigid community control of price ceilings, Kenneth B. Backman, regional OPA administrator, today made public a letter in which he asked Gov. Saltonstall's co-operation in supporting legislation that would set up local ordinances to enforce OPA legislations in Massachusetts cities and towns.

These ordinances, according to Backman, would establish the right of local courts to levy fines up to $100 and jail sentences up to 90 days for those who sell their products above OPA ceiling prices, or who transfer rationed goods without collecting ration stamps.

Schools Take Lead in Drive To Put Bond Sales Over Top

Classrooms were turned into salesrooms in many Boston schools today as 100,000 pupils waded into the battle to make the Fourth War Loan drive a success.

Organized as the Junior Minute Men, the school children canvassed their neighborhoods, urging parents and friends to call at their schools between 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. today, tomorrow and Thursday to buy extra War Bonds.

Volunteers of the state War Finance Committee were on hand at the various schools to handle the actual sales. Buyers showed up in such large numbers at several schools that police details were sent to help direct "traffic."

F. W. Denio, state chairman, declared that the boost given the drive by the student volunteers is expected to add materially to the total bond sales in Massachusetts during the final week of the campaign, which ends one week from today.

Although the finish is in sight, from the time point of view, Massachusetts is still a long distance from the half-way mark in bond sales, Denio warned.

Latest returns show that the total of purchases is $93,000,000 or 36 per cent of the state quota of $258,000,000.

The New England Sector War Bond Cavalcade, all-Army show of picked enlisted men and WACS from local Coast Artillery troops, will stage a performance before an Everett bond-buying audience tonight and will appear in Lawrence tomorrow, Haverhill Thursday and Gloucester Saturday.

RAID HOSPITAL

which operations were under way.

"Shrapnel also perforated the tents of a number of women nurses sleeping on cots at the time.

"Three ambulances also were hit by shrapnel.

"Capt. Thomas Mathews of Houston, Tex., who as hospital detachment commander was present at the time when the Germans bombed the evacuation hospital, told me:

"'I saw the bombs land in the middle of the hosiptal area. Come and see for yourself.'

"This was only an hour later and debris was still all about. He showed me a total of eight small bomb craters all of which were the anti-personnel type which had scooped out the ground a little deeper than an ordinary basin but which showered shrapnel, whizzing through the tents

"I saw where one bomb had fallen exactly six inches from a huge Red Cross flag stretched on the ground. It had even ripped part of the flag to pieces.

"Mathews continued:

"'It's impossible that the Red Cross markings were not seen. Besides this huge Red Cross flag on this side, there is another one on the other side of the hospital tents and the tents themselves, as you can see, are prominently marked by 26 Red Cross flags.

"'Furthermore, all the bombs landed were personnel bombs, intended to get people living in tents. The German plane was much too low not to have seen those markings.'"

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Feb. 8 (AP)—Japanese air and supply bases from Tanimbar islands in the Netherlands East Indies to Kavieng, New Ireland, along a 1450-mile front, took heavy poundings in Allied aerial attacks reported by the high command today.

Eighty-one tons of bombs, the heaviest load of all the raids, were dropped by Liberator heavies on Momote airdrome and nearby supply areas in the Admiralty islands northeast of New Guinea.

Top News Tip Award Split By 2 Women

A South Boston woman and a Brookline woman divided top awards in the Record-American-Advertiser news tip contest last week, receiving $3 each. The South Boston woman called the city editor at Liberty 4000 when she learned that Long Island visitors had been marooned by high wind. The Brookline woman sent in a tip on two members of the Back Bay patrol caught breaking into a Brookline store.

There were five awards of $2 each. One went to an Everett man for a tip on the arrest of a gun girl in connection with an Everett taxi holdup. A second was awarded a Watertown woman for a tip on a boy rescuing a dog from Charles river. A third went to a Lynn man for a tip on a general alarm fire in Lynn. A Chelsea girl won the fourth for a tip on a sailor killed in a Chelsea auto crash, and a Boston man was awarded the fifth for a tip on two boys rescued from drowning at Watertown.

Nine awards of $1 each were made for tips on such stories as a runaway horse in the East Boston tunnel, fires, auto crashes and a bus driver dropping dead.

(He met Bill McGowan, the Woburn taxi driver lately.)

And Pfc. Joe F. Milinzzo of 12 Newhall st., Lowell, who anticipates three postwar major moments when (1) he rejoins wife, Madeline (Fritzler) and (2) infant daughter Maureen, and (3) returns to his job with Imperial Upholstery, under Harry Fox. And Pfc. Benjamin Cohen of 25 Florence st., Somerville, who helped in his dad's grocery, the Washington Spa, and says his current idea of paradise is a roller skating date at Bal-a-rue, with "Evelyn."

YOUTH IN THEM RETURNS

I invite you—come along and meet these men, as I find them on the firing ranges in some remote valley, or the bleak bivouack in the open fields, or the steaming mess kitchens, or the rocky-brown moors. You who knew them as round faced, smooth cheeked youth will see them grim and adult under the severe lines of their steel pots—youths become uncompromising men, youngsters forced by fell circumstance into a prematurely elder mould.

And then—as we stand, perhaps on some barren, winter-browned hilltop where the fingers of a February wind clutch at your throat, they revert to youth again, transformed by talk of familiar things. And over and again they will speak the old refrain, "It seems so long ago."

So Pfc. Raymond J. Mason of 941 Plymouth st., Bridgewater, remembers his family's four acres of growing greens and how, between times in the leather-board factory where his dad (Louis) was foreman, they used to hoe and grow the things which mother Lydia put in jars.

And Pfc. Joe W. Bergin of 26 Grotter Rd., West Roxbury, a rifleman, who is proud of his dad's gift-lighter (Joe W—you can't get 'em over here) and tells his Maw, Effie I., who used to make him clean up the family cellar, that he's the champion picker-upper of the U. S. Army.

And Pvt. John S. Albee of 14 Parley Vale, Jamacia Plain, an "ammo bearer" here for a Browning team, dreams of other winter days in the untrammelled time when the B. & M. "Snow Train" used to chug to Crawford Notch, and asks that "Margaret" please write more regularly.

Need I mention that these tough-gentle types are the fighters who go through daily training rigors that would bring some college football squad down with galloping disintegration. And yet the overlay of hardness and forced-aging covers a core of simple naivete.

Pfc. Joseph F. Milinazo, Lowell — Pvt. Bill Koumanelis, Winthrop

RECALL OLD TIMES

So the men who learn to stab at "throat and guts" with a duplex motion of a bayonet, or how to squirt liquid fire from the nozzle of a flame thrower, are the same who talk about fun they had at the Congregational Church "socials" under Rev. Green, like Pvt. Arthur W. Greene (no relation) of 618 Oxford st., Auburn, he who used to play a hot guitar in a hillbilly band with Wesley Rose and Leslie Carpenter.

Or one might show you how he held his fast-breaking curve ball when he pitched for the Town Team, like Francis J. "Taxie" Taxier of 58 Brook st., Stoughton, who used to work for the "Things and Stuff" Shop—a gadget factory. Or how he once occupied the second-story-rear-right room of the little cream-colored cottage at 134 Alley st., where he had a picture of his old National Guard outfit on the wall, like Pvt. Walter J. Jazoewski, of Lynn.

All such things they talk about as they lean on a rifle muzzle, or crouch beside an 81 mm motor, or a 30 calibre machine gun.

If the rigors of war's denial have anything to offer—and this writer is not one to preach on war's boons and benefits—it is the deep abiding appreciation that these lads have gained for the little things they once had, and so often discounted—the right to move at their whim, the blessings of simple plenty, the right to do some useful work at a living wage, the open communion between friends of their own choosing. When Private Joe T. Redgate of 23A Heath st., Somerville, voiced that definition of "soldier freedom," the circle of New Englanders around him bobbed their heads in a common yes-motion.

In this circle was Pvt. Frank D. Puglielli of 42 Winslow st., Everett, a former All-State scholastic guard for Everett High in '34. And Pvt. William Kazukonis of 376 River st., Haverhill, a rifleman, whose standard of fun is what he knew at the Lithuanian-American Gedimeno Club, and who acknowledges a Boston American Xmas parcel mailed by Joan Shearing of Taunton.

And Pfc. Alfred J. Dicote of 15 Wyman rd., Braintree, who used to be a private guard at Hingham's Hi-Explosive depot. And Pfc. Frank Stanley Howard of 8 Robinson st., Saugus, who once broadcast the "Voice of Youth" program for WMEX and says he sent Wendell Willkie one of his recent razor-blade wood carvings.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Smart Set Weds Officer

By BETTY ALDEN

THE HEIRLOOM lace cap and short wedding veil worn by her paternal great grandmother forms part of the bridal costume of pretty Moira Mahony when she becomes the bride of Lieut. Robert E. Isaacson, USA, of Omaha, Neb., in Boston this afternoon. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harrison Mahony of 170 Beacon st., at whose home the wedding reception takes place.

Moira is carrying a bouquet of white lilacs and orchids with her ivory velvet gown which has a chiffon yoke. Spring-like green marquisette gowns with templets and bouquets of pink camellias are being worn by the four bridesmaids and the matron of honor is in pink. The attendants are Mary Faunce, Helen Underwood, Joan Moore, May Bottomley, and Mrs. Thomas H. Mahony, Jr., matron of honor.

Moira Mahony

C. W. Joyce of Winston-Salem, is best man for Lieut. Isaacson. The ushers are Dr. T. H. Mahony, Jr., Lieut. Edward and Cadet Gael Mahony, brothers of the bride; Thomas G. Swaim, fiance of Mary Faunce; Carlos Thompson and Dr. Alex Boker, Harvard classmates of the groom.

While the bridegroom is stationed at Ft. Custer the couple will make their home at Battle Creek, Mich.

WITH THE FAR EAST so much in the news there is great interest in the speech Mrs. I. A. Richards of Cambridge is giving at United China Relief, 367 Boylston st., today. She and Dr. Richards have done a great deal of mountain climbing in China and were associated with a university there when Peking was taken by the Japs. They escaped to Yunan and in her speech Mrs. Richards tells of the trip by foot over the old trail from Yunan to Burma.

V-Mail Kisses

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—V-mail letters bearing lipstick kisses—which recently irked army officials in Chicago—still will be photographed and sent overseas by the New York army post office, providing the kisses are properly implanted.

New York port postal authorities said the ideal V-mail kiss is placed lightly in one corner where it will not interfere with writing or smudge letters. They advised against letters overloaded with lipstick, saying an extra coat will produce a smear.

STABBED IN THE BACK BY ARTHRITIS

NOW is the time of the year when Arthritis is on the loose, stabbing victim after victim with its deadly dagger of pain. If you are one of those unfortunate people, here is important information for you to know. Many people suffering from nagging arthritis pains in back, knees shoulders and hands, never suspect that these pains may be caused, in some cases, by excessive acids within the body.

As a history aid in the faster neutralization of these excessive acids which in turn may tend to bring speedier pain relief to this extent, Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets were devised by a well-known food nutritionist. Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets contain food sodium and food iodine, two minerals of nutritional value which may prove to be helpful to many arthritis sufferers. Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets are free from all harmful chemical drugs. They positively do not contain injurious ingredients of any kind.

GET OUT this ADVERTISEMENT and present it with $1.00 at any Nature Food Centres Store to get your Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets. Take them as directed on the label and if they do not bring soothing relief to your aching joints and muscles faster than any other dietary aid you have ever used, THE TRIAL IS FREE! Just return the bottle and get your money back. Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets cost only a few cents a day to use. 150 Tablet Bottles—$1.85 (300 Tablet Economy Size $3.25). Mail orders sent postpaid. Nurses Trained for Duty in Homes

By PAULINE WARREN

BORN during the terrible days of 1918, the Household Nursing Association on Newbury street, is weathering its second war and consequent epidemics despite heart-breaking odds. Each day it is assailed by frantic families in need of home nurses and each day they must turn away more than half of these demands for lack of students.

Defense plant wages make a sirenish appeal to the type of woman intelligent enough to pass the standards of the short 14-months course. So dire is the problem that Dr. Vlado A. Getting, State Commissioner of Public Health, made a public appeal recently at the height of the flu wave when thousands of families were denied assistance simply because there are not enough attendant nurses to go around.

Yet Attendant Nursing is a rewarding and dignified profession. It differs from registered nursing only in that the training is shorter and does not prepare nurses for seriously ill patients or contagious diseases. But the requirements are simple: A grammar school education is sufficient, although 2 years of high school is better. Ages range from 18 to 45 and good health is essential.

The course though short is interesting. All attendant nurses are taught to cook and manage a household with, in these days, special care of a family's ration points. They also have classes in physiology, behavior, invalid care and child cookery. After this two-months preliminary course, during which they live in the pleasant buildings on Newbury st., they are sent to one of the eight affiliated hospitals for 52 more weeks training.

After that they are sent out on "field work," on duty with private families, getting an excellent wage, where they put into practice what they have learned and are visited weekly by a nurse-instructor.

Many a lady wielding a torch but wishing a more secure future, might find it profitable to investigate the possibilities of so honorable a profession which is indispensable to our nation's health in war or peace.

Making a Lottery of The Law

ONE OF THE WORST things that ever happened to the United States has been the great damage inflicted upon the Federal judicial system by the doctrines and political cynicism of the New Deal.

Part of the damage has been done by intimidation of the Judiciary, as when Mr. Roosevelt arbitrarily attempted to "pack" the Supreme Court in 1937.

Damage has also been steadily done by the use of the power of appointment which the President exercises.

In the lower courts, Mr. Roosevelt has more than once appointed judges who were nothing else than local politicians, picked and backed by local political bosses.

In the higher courts as well as the lower, he has appointed judges with little or no judicial experience.

Into some of the courts he has placed New Deal "lame ducks," and he has likewise "promoted" New Deal lackeys to the bench, either as a reward for political servitude or possibly merely to get rid of them politically.

And in all of the courts Mr. Roosevelt has preferred, not ably experienced lawyers with the professional traditional regard for sound precedents and the corpus juris, but DOCTRINAIRES willing to set aside the real lore of the law in order to clear the way for legislative innovations, for unconstitutional practices and for radical "reforms."

Furthermore, with his twelve uninterrupted years in office, Mr. Roosevelt has appointed SO MANY judges that the United States Courts might well be called the Roosevelt Judiciary.

IF THIS sounds like a severe indictment, it is not nearly so severe as the judgments which the Supreme Court has uttered upon itself.

That once truly august tribunal now consists almost entirely of Rooseveltian appointees.

And on two occasions the court has actually CHASTISED ITSELF for what it has become.

Some months ago, Justice Frank J. Murphy, in a written comment, sharply criticised Justice Felix Frankfurter for basing interpretations of the law on his own sociological and economic notions, rather than upon judicial precedent and the statutes.

Just recently, Justice Owen J. Roberts, who was in the Supreme Court before the Roosevelt Era began, speaking with the concurrence of Justice Frankfurter, rebuked the entire court for issuing so many reversals of preceding Supreme Court decisions as to make the law "not A CHART to govern conduct, but A GAME OF CHANCE" in which neither lawyers nor the inferior courts any longer know what the law is.

Justice Roberts said:

"The tendency to disregard precedents in the decision of cases . . . has become so strong in this court of late as, in my view, to shake confidence in the consistency of decision and leave the courts below on an uncharted sea of doubt and difficulty without any confidence that what was said yesterday will hold good tomorrow."

The average citizen may not suspect that this is a matter that concerns him very nearly.

But it does, for THE VERY QUESTION OF HIS CIVIL RIGHTS IS INVOLVED.

We are drifting away from CONSTITUTIONAL government BY LAWS to UNCONSTITUTIONAL government BY MEN.

We are DESTROYING THE FOUNDATIONS OF LIBERTY and LAYING THE FOUNDATIONS FOR TOTALITARIANISM.

Mr. Lodge's Honest Choice

EVERY American admires a man who follows the dictates of his conscience and remains true to his patriotic inclinations.

Every American must therefore admire Former Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr.

In spite of the powerful arguments of his friends who wanted him to continue in his important civilian position, Senator Lodge felt that his age, health and experience qualified him for military duty in this dark hour of his country's history.

And he honestly and honorably did the thing he considered best.

His action is a challenge to thousands of other men of comparable age in elected and appointed jobs to throw off their current immunity from Selective Service and get into the uniform of the Army or Navy.

The selection of a successor to Senator Lodge is the responsibility of Governor Saltonstall, who has indicated he will not resign his present position and have himself appointed to the Senate.

This responsibility could be discharged in a truly inspiring manner if the Governor rewarded proven competence in the United States Congress and named Representative Edith Nourse Rogers of Lowell to assume and carry on Senator Lodge's duties.

Mrs. Rogers is universally hailed as the soldiers' best friend. No member of Congress has ever represented New England better or with greater results. She has the knowledge and training that a Senator requires in this emergency.

If Cupid has wings
Is it not that he
May flutter, hither and thither?
—BEAUMARCHAIS.

IT WAS BYRON who said: "Friendship is love without his wings" . . . "What women will want to buy in the postwar world." That is title of an article in a business magazine. The more a business man understands women the better he will be able to figure what they will want to buy. That was one point we brought up when inaugurating our Horses & Women Bureau some eight years ago. Our claim was that all business men should devote some time to the study of the workings of the female mind. Not many business men do this. Most of them appear to have an idea that all any study of the female of the species might be good for is to win the regard of a reluctant blonde.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: A California minister says he often gets ideas for sermons from this column. In the same mail a resident of Baltimore states he has found this department's suggestion to play the solid horse for show to be a good one. "I'm losing less money than I formerly did," says he . . . The Four Horsemen" starring Rudolph Valentino was revived in New York last week. Also "The Big Parade." Jack Gilbert, Karl Dane and Tom O'Brien were featured in this latter film. If you can remember what actress was also featured in it, you have a fine memory.

ASIDES: Now I have a reader at Port Henry, N. Y., on Lake Champlain. How is it around that way in winter? The skating must be good. I guess they fish through the ice, too. Wonder if they have ice boats? I know that at Lake Placid, N. Y., they have harness races on the ice . . . In Milwaukee there is a fashion expert who acts as a "style consultant" for women who are a little on the plump side. My informant says: "She is really very clever. Several of us who have consulted her have had wonderful results. Our husbands have been complimenting us on our smart appearance."

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—My brother, Louie Wolf, former Notre Dame football captain, says in the novel "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" the author, Betty Smith, referred to the Brooklyn ball club as the "Bums." Louie says that is an error; that at the time the story takes place the Brooklyn team was known as "The Robins," after Manager Wilbert Robinson. Is he right? A—Louie is right. Moreover, at that time the team was also referred to as "The Dodgers," a nickname which goes back to around 1906. At that time Brooklyn had so many trolley lines its citizens were known as "Trolley Dodgers." This was tagged on to the ball club and soon shortened to "Dodgers." "The Bums" is a nickname of recent origin. Old time Brooklynites don't like it. Q—Who said: "I like any color as long as it is red"? I asked at the public library and not a librarian knew. A—Eugene Field said: "Any color, so long as it's red is the color that suits me best."

SAYS SHE: "So a sailor's wife says she gets along on $180 a month," writes a Navy wife of Baltimore. "That's good I guess, but I get along on $140 a month. We have two daughters 4 and 9 years old. Out of the $140 I pay instalments on the house, gas, electricity, grocery, coal, doctor's and dentist's bills. I also have four war bonds and am buying more. My husband says he is kind of proud of me."

BRIEFLY: "My husband was married three times before and I twice before," states a New York subscriber. "Now it is four marriages for him and three for me, so as that adds up to seven we figure our present marriage will be a lucky one. It has been so far. I can't understand why his other marriages didn't work out." . . . Am informed that Milwaukee beer is being sold for 50 cents a glass in San Francisco . . . Marie McGee of Seattle, Wash., has been made a member of the My Name Is a Poem Club . . . Elvira Snodgrass is achieving fame in the field of female wrestlers. She is the third Snodgrass to become a sporting celebrity. The first was Fred Snodgrass, Giant outfielder. I'll let you name the other celebrated athletic Snodgrass just to see if you really know your sporting history.

What Did You Do Today?

Lieutenant Dean Shatlain, a tank commander (home address undetermined), lay dying, as he thought, on an African battlefield. He had amputated his own foot with a jackknife. As his blood sped into the sand, he scribbled a poem on paper. Long after his rescue by Americans and removal to a British hospital, the poem found its way to the New Orleans Item.

What did you do today, my friend, from morning till the night?
How many times did you complain that rationing is too tight?
When are you going to start to do all of the things you say?
A soldier would like to know, my friend, what did you do today?

We met the enemy today and took the town by storm.
Happy reading it will make for you without a thorn.
You'll read with satisfaction the brief communique.
We fought, but are you fighting? What did you do today?

My gunner died in my arms today, I feel his warm blood yet:
Your neighbor's dying boy gave out a scream I'll ne'er forget.
On my right a tank was hit, a flash and then a fire,
The stench of burning flesh still rises from the pyre.

What did you do today, my friend, to help with the task?
Did you work hard and long for less, or is that too much to ask?
"What right have I to ask you this?" you probably will say,
Maybe now you'll understand. You see . . . I died today.

My Day — By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

NEW YORK, MONDAY, Feb. 7—Saturday night we went to see Katharine Cornell and Raymond Massey in a play called "Lovers and Friends" by Dodie Smith.

The reviews have been none too good on this play and so I wonder whether the fact that I liked it so much was because the people seemed to me real people and behaved somewhat the way they would have behaved when I was a young woman!

I confess I thought the husband lacked a little subtlety in announcing his love affair, but the rest of the play was full of subtle meaning to me. While perhaps one should not expect evenings of entertainment to teach one any lessons, there is one in this play which men and women would do well to learn.

★ ★ ★

IT IS OBVIOUSLY true that the first flush of being "in love" always changes into something deeper and calmer, or more superficial. I have known only a few very happy marriages. By that I do not mean just people who get along together and live contentedly through life, but people who are really excitingly happy. These people are those who have somehow preserved the ability to reapture the romance of the early days and rejuvenate their love.

The play shows that it is not the people who happen to attract each other temporarily who really matter.

★ ★ ★

IT IS THE LURE of romance—finding someone new to tell about yourself, someone who will give you a feeling that what you say is important and that they have never heard it before, someone who will give you the feeling that you are more important and alluring than a previous engagement, or a book, or people, or perhaps even a career. This may be a lesson worth learning, or perhaps you think I'm wrong. In any case, Katharine Cornell and Raymond Massey give you a pleasant evening and some very fine acting.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8—At last Buddy De Sylva can get "Salty O'Rourke" rolling whether M-G-M lets him have Mickey Rooney for the tough little jockey role or not.

Buddy has found his own tough jockey in the person of Stanley Clemens, the 17-year-old who was a riot at the preview of "Going My Way?" In the Bing Crosby movie, Stanley plays a hoodlum, and plays it to the teeth.

But that isn't all the news about "Salty O'Rourke": Alan Ladd and Gail Russell will be the co-stars of the picture, and it gives Alan a sympathetic role, something he's been hankering after for quite awhile. He plays a horserace owner, and Gail is the schoolteacher who tries to make the jockey see the error of his ways.

WILLIAM POWELL is one of 7-year-old Margaret O'Brien's greatest admirers in spite of the fact she admits she is madly in love with James Craig, a married man. Be that as it may, Bill will be Margaret's leading man in a comedy, "I'm Your Man," an original by Leo Townsend and Walter Reisch. It's a cute story about a child whose parents are killed in the Orient and who returns to the ancestral estate in America with only the family butler (Bill) to look after her. Arthur Hornblow produces.

MARY PICKFORD is considering doing a stage play and this isn't just talk. I met Gradwell Sears and he told me she had been offered the starring part in "Cabbages and Kings," and because the play is so good she is considering doing it. I think her old friend, Lillian Gish, may have steamed Mary up about a fling on the stage. Lillian and Dorothy Gish were so good in "Life With Father," and Mary was one of their biggest rooters.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Nothing interferes with Mary Boland's sense of humor, not even her serious illness during which several doctors believed she would not pull through. "I had a close brush with heaven," Mary laughed, "but you know how overcrowded every place is. They had to put me on the waiting list, I guess." Too bad Mary wasn't well enough to see the preview of her newest picture, "In Our Time," with Ida Lupino and Paul Henreid. Reports are she gives a wonderful comedy portrayal of a flutter-brain who is always nibbling on chocolates and putting the ones she likes back in the box. Reminds me of someone—I wouldn't say who; Francis X. Bushman, who hasn't had screen billing in 15 years, gets the role of Bernard M. Baruch in "Wilson." This is certainly a fine break for Bushman.

TWO CITIES PRODUCTIONS of London, England, has shipped to Hollywood the technicolor print of Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit," and the Hollywood agents are showing it to major companies dickering for a release. Coward isn't in the movie version of his play himself. Rex Harrison has his role and Diana Wynward the chief femme part.

SNAPSHOTS OF NEW YORK AND HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Mrs. Frank Sinatra has canceled her trip to the Coast. Henry Armetta, ill and out of pictures more than a year, is well enough to accept a part in "My Client Curley"; Helen Walker will have to undergo an immediate tonsilectomy; Nancy Coleman's mother will come out to be with Nancy for the advent of the Whitney Bolton heir or heiress in July; just learned that Robert Presnell, former writer and producer, is a lieutenant colonel on General MacArthur's staff. His wife, Cecilie Callejo, well known Spanish dancer, stages a movie comeback in "Marriage Is a Private Affair" with Lana Turner; Peggy O'Neill ("Song of the Open Road" ingenue) at Biltmore Bowl.

NEW YORK, Feb. 8—No names necessary, of course, but I just heard of a war bond salesman who struck a bonanza. He made the rounds of the gambling houses, in the metropolitan area (yes, Miss Twidget, there still are such things!) and lassoed the winners for thousands of the Treasury Department's three-bucks-will-pay-you-fourers . . . Have you seen the "Higher and Higher" billboards where adoring fans have decapitated their Frankie Boy?

And have you seen the movie and experienced the terrific battle of pro and con noises in the audience? It's a better show than the picture! . . . I'm curious to see Marlene Dietrich (or anyone, for that matter) in a musical version of "Rain." I can just hear the Rev. Davidson singing a ditty called "You Look Good to Me, Baby, and That's Bad!"

★ ★ ★

I HEAR that when Ina Ray Hutton, the blonde bombshell, developed a nervous twitch in her eye during her last engagement at the Strand Theater, it was discovered that she was allergic to certain colors. Yellow is the chief offender. So before her next engagement there, which starts in a few days, the dressing room and other strategic areas backstage are being painted a soft blue, and the electricians are being instructed not to make with the yellow gelatins on the spotlights. I sympathize with Miss Hutton. The color orange makes me twitch. So does Nile green. So does the shade known as "orchid" when used in a room, notepaper, or anything but a Marie Laurencin painting.

I AM TOLD that no less than three widows have turned up to claim royalties on the late Johnny Black's song hit, "Paper Doll"... The war really is hitting home now. You hear everyone talking indignantly about the Japanese atrocities—taxi drivers, straphangers in buses, salesgirls in department stores, counter "Joes" in lunch wagons, even the dyed-in-the-wool escapists in night clubs.

Those who have the notion that June Havoc was the weak sister in the Hovick outfit might recall (or be reminded) that June was a baby star once upon a time and older sister Louise (Gypsy Rose) was just "somebody in the act."

Star Shine

By Sydney Skolsky

NEW YORK, Feb. 8—The other day at a gasoline station the attendant gave me a pamphlet—they've got to give you something at a gas station. This paper book is called "What's in a Name?" and it tells what various names really mean.

Bob Hope

I immediately thought of the various movie stars, whose names I had taken for granted, and resolved to see if their names had any association with their character or their film roles.

Spencer Tracy, I learned, has a name that can be used either in forward or reverse. The Spencer stems from the French, and means a steward, or dispenser to a large household, while Tracy is a variant of Theresa or Teresa. And as for Teresa Wright, her given name in the Greek means "a harvester," and it certainly has been a good movie season for her.

Bob Hope is next, and Bob, Bobbie and Robin, it says, are all variants of Robert, which in the Teutonic means "bright in counsel." Bob's real name is "Lester," and I looked that up also. It means "lustrous," from the Saxon.

Skipping into the girls' department, I find that Alice means "noble, illustrious," which should please Alice Faye. Alexis, Alexia and Alexandra are all variants of Alexander, from the Greek meaning, "helper of men." It certainly gives another slant on Alexis.

★ ★ ★

THE DARNELLS of Dallas must have consulted this book to name their baby, for Linda, from the Teutonic, means "lovely maid," a description that applies to Linda.

A puzzler is the name Tallulah. It is dismissed with a terse "meaning uncertain." I always believed that Tallulah Bankhead was named for a river in the congressional district of Alabama. But here's cheering news for the coming generation of girls who bear the name of Tallulah. It says "your name means to you and the people around you what you yourself make it mean."

★ ★ ★

NOW, GETTING to the men, Humphrey, from the Saxon, means "protector of the home." However, Humphrey Bogart didn't make his reputation as a "protector of the home," generally just the reverse. The name, it appears, doesn't apply to the "bad men of the screen," for Alan means "cheerful," and Alan Ladd certainly didn't jump into fame by being that.

Cary Grant, who changed his name from Archie Leach, might have done it to become a movie hero, for "Grant" means "great, brave and valorous."

Stalin and the Pope

By George E. Sokolsky

IZVESTIA is the official organ of Stalin's government. Everything that appears in Izvestia is not only official but is intended as a formal notice of government policy. Soviet Russia, her allies, satellites and followers now know that the new line is opposition to the Catholic Church. In the present circumstances, this can only mean that every Catholic priest in Poland will be regarded as a Fascist agent.

It will be recalled that after pursuing a public policy of godlessness, Stalin, last year, suddenly permitted the Greek Orthodox Church to be re-established. This was mistaken in England and the United States as religious freedom. This error I exposed in a debate with Leon Henderson on the "Wake-Up America!" program of Sept. 26, 1943, when I said:

"IT DOESN'T matter at all, for instance, to either the Jews or the Catholics whether a Greek Orthodox Church is opened, whether they have a patriarch or not. What they want are their schools to be opened, their yeshivas, their convents, their parochial schools, so that children may be taught the ways of their parents. There has not been a single word in anything that has come out of Russia, in any news story, in any propaganda story, to indicate that a single religious school has been opened in that land and those are infinitely more important than the churches.

"Now, this whole question of religion in Russia is one that has been battled back and forth. They don't like religion. They don't believe in God. They don't want God, and as long as that is their position and that is their attitude, they will keep the churches closed and the schools closed. From the standpoint of religion, the separation of church and state does not only mean that the church should not interfere with the state, it also means that the state should not interfere with the church and that the state should not interfere with the education of children in the ways and at the insistence of their parents."

FOR STALIN this question was really academic until his armies reached a dense Catholic population, but there he had to decide whether he would tolerate a universal church—one that is not under the control of the Soviet government. In Poland, the Catholic Church provides a leadership for the Polish people. Therefore, as Stalin enters Poland, he attacks the church.

Curiously enough, one of the arguments used in Izvestia is that the Vatican was silent in June, 1940, when Italy stabbed France in the back. That is an amazing statement in view of the fact that Stalin was actually in alliance with Hitler and Mussolini when Italy stabbed France in the back in June, 1940. The Stalin-Hitler alliance also stabbed Great Britain in the back. It also stabbed Poland in the back.

If there has been any backstabbing in this war, it was done in those miserable months from September, 1939, until June, 1941, during which Stalin gave Hitler a free hand to devastate Europe and to conquer England. It was only after Hitler attacked Russia in June, 1941, that Stalin came over on to our side.

YET, IT IS THIS same Stalin who dares to attack the Pope, whose temporal power is by the very nature of his office nil, for not doing what Stalin could have and, in my opinion, should have done in June, 1940, or even in September, 1939, namely range his population and resources on the side of right. And to this day, Stalin is at peace with Japan even while we have provided him with nearly $4,000,000,000 of lend-lease. His attack on the Pope therefore loses meaning in view of the Pope's temporal disabilities and Stalin's capacity to act—a capacity which was available when Hitler started to conquer the world.

Buying Time Cut By Ration Tokens

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration reported today a Chicago demonstration showed a 50 per cent time saving in buying of groceries with new ration tokens.

Retailers "endorsed the token plan 100 per cent," OPA said.

Ten housewives moved past the cashier in five minutes while paying for goods selling at $16 in the test run, OPA said, while it took—minutes, 55 seconds for 10 housewives to check out $14.25 worth of goods under the old system.

The token plan goes into effect Feb. 27.

NEW BALLETS AMUSING

By PEGGY DOYLE

Having scrapped the comic fantasy continuity, Deems Taylor's recorded introductions and other items that are said to have handicapped the Baltimore premiere, Vincent Youmans last night brought his "Ballet Revue" to the Opera House and a definitely yes-and-no audience.

The famous composer, who will bring his first musical comedy since 1931 to Broadway next May, is making his debut as a producer. At the same time he is paying homage to those other musical greats, Rimsky-Korsakoff, Maurice Ravel and the Cuban composer, Ernesto Lecuono, by wrapping his "Ballet Revue" around their music.

Most arresting ballet is Leonide Massine's clasic "Antar," from Rimsky-Korsakoff's second symphony, with Ivan Kirov, Katia Gelznova and Jean Guelis in the featured roles, assisted by Massine's corps de ballet. It is imaginatively conceived, beautifully staged and presented.

Massine is also represented by a ballet set to Ravel's "Daphnis and Chloe," another classic charmer, which gave the ballet master's 17-year-old protegee from Dallas, Tex., Kathryn Lee, opportunity to stop the show. The Daphnis of Alexander Iolas was another brilliant achievement.

In a lighter mood and tense is Massine's third offering, "Rowlandson Comic Ballet," based on the caricature of "The Unfortunate Painter", by the 18th Century comic artist Rowlandson and amusingly if mutely translated by David Ahdar, Monica Lind, Jean Guelis and ballet's only midget exponent, Andrew Ratousheff.

In striking contrast to the Massine grouping are the striking, modern offerings of Eugene Van Grona, whose jungle rhapsody, "Zambra Gitana" and "Rhumba Ballet" have the vigor and vividness of a Kathryn Dunham dance creation. In all three, Diana Gary and Toni and Mimi Worth are the featured dancers and deservedly.

Holding up the revue end of the title is that notably resourceful young artist who discovered the strip-teasing values of a polo-coat and who would be the Satire Room's Imogene Coca, the incorrigible nut. Miss Coca larks around the stage in diaphanous attire, shedding veils with the nonchalance of a he-loves-me-he-loves-me-not daisy despoiler.

CARY GRANT
"Destination Tokyo"

Sub Tribute Film to Met

In "Destination Tokyo," due Thursday on the Metropolitan screen, Warner Brothers pay tribute to America's undersea fighters.

Cary Grant and John Garfield get the star billing. Heading the supporting cast are Dane Clark, Robert Hutton, Warner Anderson, Alan Hale, Faye Emerson, John Ridgely and William Prince (seen here in Maxwell Anderson's "Eve of St. Mark").

During production, the set of "Destination Tokyo" was closed tight as a conning tower against visitors. Picture required Navy's O. K. before it could be released. Delmar Daves directed from the Albert Maltz script based on Steve Fisher's original story about Tokyobound aircraft-based bombers.

The co-feature will be "Henry Aldrich, Boy Scout," latest in the Jimmy Lydon-Charlie Smith featuring series.

Abbott's Play Due Feb. 28

George Abbott, whose "Kiss and Tell" found an enthusiastic welcome here, will return with his newest production, "A Highland Fling," opening a two-week engagement at the Wilbur Theater, Monday evening, Feb. 28.

Broadway actress Margaret Curtis authored "A Highland Fling," a first play. Miss Curtis was last seen here in the Katharine Cornell-starring revival of "The Doctor's Dilemma" and before that in the Lunts' "Point Valaine," "Yes, My Darling Daughter" and "Father Malachy's Miracle."

★ ★ ★

Two of the longest and most famous of present-day theatrical partnerships will celebrate a joint anniversary next Fall, when the Theater Guild presents Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne in Ferenc Molnar's comedy, "The Guardsman."

The production will mark the 26th anniversary of the Lunts as America's most renowned acting team, since it was in October, 1924, that they first appeared together . . . in "The Guardsman," which they presented in joint association with the Guild.

The "Guardsman" will mark the return of the Lunts to New York after a London season.

Spareribs Practical For Family, Guests

By MARTHA LEE

SPARERIBS ARE POPULAR and practical for both family and company meals, for they may be prepared in a variety of ways. Cooking by moist heat is probably the way they are most frequently prepared. Spareribs and sauerkraut is an example of this method of cookery, with the sauerkraut supplying the moisture.

Spareribs may also be braised. They are browned, then liquid is added. Barbecued spareribs are frequently cooked in this way, the barbecue sauce serving as the liquid.

BARBECUED SPARERIBS

3 lbs. spareribs ¼ cup vinegar
1-3 cup water 1-3 cup butter
1-3 cup chili sauce
3 tbsp. horseradish
2 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
½ tsp. salt Dash of cayenne

SPARERIB MEDLEY

Wipe spareribs and crack bones across middle; lay on broiler rack and place under low flame or heating unit in preheated broiler. Broil very slowly about ½ hour, or until brown and crisp, basting occasionally with sauce made by heating together remaining ingredients. Use sauce left from basting for gravy. Makes 6 servings.

Roasting is a delicious method of cookery for spareribs. Clever homemakers roast them with a bread stuffing to extend the meat. It is because the meat on spareribs is so tender that the roasting method is suitable.

Spareribs have a flavor-fullness that is appreciated particularly during winter months. Spareribs Medley features spareribs in a recipe which radiates warmth in color and flavor, with a delicious blend of meat, vegetables and seasonings.

SPARERIB MEDLEY

2 lbs. spareribs 3 cups water
1 clove garlic 3 tsp. salt
½ tsp. pepper 2 medium onions
3½ cups stewed tomatoes, or
1 No. 2½ can tomatoes
½ lb. dried kidney beans
Flour to thicken gravy

Soak kidney beans overnight in water. Place in a kettle the beans and water in which they were soaked. Cut spareribs into servings and arrange over beans. Add the sliced onion, chopped garlic and seasonings. Pour tomatoes over mixture. Cover tightly and simmer slowly about 2½ hours. Remove meat and beans to serving dish. Thicken liquid with flour and serve in separate bowl. Makes 6 servings.

STUFFED FRESH SPARERIBS

4 lbs. fresh spareribs
Salt
Pepper
1 qt. sauerkraut
2 tsp. caraway seeds
¼ cup grated raw potato

Select two sections of spareribs to match. Wipe meat with cloth and rub with salt and pepper. Soak sauerkraut 5 minutes in cold water and drain. Combine sauerkraut with caraway seeds and raw potato. Place 1 section of spareribs in large baking pan. Pile on this the sauerkraut mixture. Place other section of spareribs on top. Cover and bake in hot oven (450 deg. F.) about 1 hour. Uncover during last 15 minutes to brown. Makes 6 servings.

Note: Any other suitable stuffing may be substituted for the sauerkraut, caraway seeds and potato.

ROAST FRESH SPARERIBS

4 lbs. fresh spareribs
Salt and pepper
¼ cup chopped onions

Select meaty fresh spareribs. Wipe meat with cloth and cut in servings, if desired. Rub with salt and pepper, place in large baking pan and sprinkle meat with onions. Cover and bake in hot oven (450 deg. F.) about 45 minutes, until tender, turning spareribs once or twice during baking. Remove cover during last 15 minutes to brown meat. Makes 6 servings.

Fashion

BRIGHTENED WITH brick-red stripes is this New York basic ensemble of spring's all-important gray Jacket, skirt and topper are made of resistant-to-abuse wool worsted . . . with buttons in the same fabric . . . and is highly serviceable and smart for town or suburban life. Man-tailored suits have a soft, decidedly young look in the new collections as befitting the season's keynote of simplicity. Note the jaunty bowler-type hat perched on the brushed-back hair. R. M.

Beauty Remove Superfluous Hair

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

SMOOTH SKIN . . . free from superfluous hair . . . is a definite MUST in the beauty regimen. To achieve loveliness, a girl must either bleach or remove the unsightly bristles on her upper lip, chin, arms and legs . . . to preserve the illusion of charm.. Lovely M-G-M Starlet Frances Gifford reveals shapely limbs free of hair unattractiveness.

THERE'S ALWAYS something to worry a gal. If it isn't an unruly complexion . . . then very often it is superfluous hair . . . on the upper lip and chin . . . peeping through sheer hose like tiny swords . . . or giving a grass-like appearance to the arms . . . to spoil the all-feminine illusion of charm . . . and incite a miserable "bearded lady" feeling. Isn't it the truth?

There's nothing more unsightly or unbecoming or more conducive to unattractiveness . . . than visible superfluous hair. Surely it is far from romantic looking and can definitely spoil your toute ensemble . . . when revealing to the eye.

But, the cosmetic art has advanced to such a degree . . . that no girl need sit home and sulk about such a condition. Superfluous hair can be removed . . . or bleached out . . . so that it is not noticeable and not at all visible.

EITHER WAY SATISFACTORY

You can do whichever way you prefer. I find that some girls like to bleach it out rather than remove it . . . while others swear by the total removal method . . . since the latter discourages the growth. Either way is efficacious and satisfactory . . . and does a splendid job of blotting out those tiny, annoying bristles which pop up . . . especially on the upper lip and chin and arms.

With the warm weather not too far in the distance . . . your legs, with some growth . . . however small but visible . . . must be taken care of . . . if you plan to beach or swim.

But, for now, with the three-quarter sleeve-length dresses so much in vogue, no girl can afford to let the tiniest of usperfluous hairs show on the wrist-part of the arm.

For the bleaching out process, there is a three-in-one preparation which makes the hair so light that it can not be seen. You take a little of the powder and put it in a glass dish . . . add enough lotion (which comes in the package) to make a thick creamy paste and to hasten the action . . . and then apply to the affected areas . . . permitting it to remain for about 20 minutes. The makers of this bleaching preparation guarantee its efficacy.

TRY BOTH METHODS

But, if you desire to remove the hair totally . . . then you'll want a cream wax . . . applied under a strip of unstarched cloth . . . and then zipped off in a direction opposite to the growth of the hair.

Why not try both methods . . . and for future use . . . concentrate on the method which appeals to you better? Either way will do the trick . . . and you'll be singing "Happy days are here again."

For the names of these two superfluous hair eradicators, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Necklines of Dresses Are Being Cut Low

By BETTINA BEDWELL

SOME scary watchers of spring styles are beginning to wonder if the designers aren't going too far in their intentions to lower necklines. Certainly the lower the neckline, the higher the style, seems to be their idea. And dresses are being cut low to make this point clear.

Mostly necks are round to deep U-shaped and they are pretty low on some of the new clothes. About right is the round, drawstring neckline on the Claire McCardell brown-and-white plaid gingham dress sketched. Tiny cap sleeves, another fashion feature, mitigate the deep neckline. A very short apron at the front of the skirt gives this delightful dress an aspect of pre-war fullness.

Every housewife must continue to save every possible ounce of waste kitchen fat. It is vitally needed in the manufacture of munitions and Uncle Sam not only pays you for it but your meat dealer will give you brown stamps for the fats you turn in.

Gansett Bound to Pick Race Head This Week

By JACK CONWAY

PRESIDENT JAMES E. DOOLEY and the board of directors at Narragansett Park are expected to name a successor to Racing Secretary Bob Shelley, who died at Coral Gables, Fla., within a few days. It is felt that immediate action is necessary to view of the fact Narragansett Park will open the New England racing season in April.

President Dooley communicated with Charles A. Connors, chairman of the board at Narragansett Park, and other members of the board of directors as soon as he learned of Shelley's death.

Judge Dooley

Racing has come a long way since Lou Smith first brought the pari-mutuels to New Hampshire in 1933. The success of the numerous new tracks throughout the country have given many officials, some of whom are very little known to the public, an opportunity to learn what makes racing tick. Many of these men have gained the experience and knowledge which would enable them to take over Shelley's post at Narragansett Park.

There are also several big name racing secretaries. While members of this group are widely known, some of them do not possess as much ability as the unknowns who do the work behind the scenes in the various racing offices.

When John Turner, racing secretary at Rockingham Park, was unable to serve for part of the 1943 and 1942 seasons, Eben Pons, who had been a placing judge at Rockingham and at Suffolk Downs and a racing secretary at some of the half mile tracks, stepped in and did a good job.

★ ★ ★

No Mysteries in Racing

GROUPS THAT have controlled racing in most parts of the country for years have tried to convince gullible track heads and directors that there is a mystery about racing, and that they knew all of the answers. It was natural that business men who had invested millions in racing and who did not know much about the sport would listen to these stories. To many of them the sport was a mystery, and as a result they were afraid to make any new moves that would have benefited racing over a period of years.

This writer has been closer to racing since it came to New England than most people, and there is not any mystery about it. The formula for a successful race track is quite simple. One requires a modern plant that is located in a good section, first class thoroughbreds in sufficient number to fill races, competent officials, experienced mutuel help, efficient attendants and box office men, wise and careful state supervision, and a management that knows what it is all about.

The public likes racing as the soaring attendance figures and mutuel handles at the various tracks prove. If the tracks put on the proper shows and the races are run off well and honestly, the various associations will make money and remain in business for many years.

The tracks should also try to eliminate from the minds of the public the thought there is any mystery about racing. Its entire operation is as simple as that of baseball, footbaall, hockey, boxing or any other major sport.

★ ★ ★

Plan for N. E. Officials

AS PART OF its plans for 1944, Narragansett Park is going to name some New England officials. It is not known yet just what positions will go to New England men, but it is understood that President Dooley and his directors have decided to give their official family a little local color.

Prior to the untimely death of Bob Shelley, there was discussion among the members of the board of directors at Narragansett Park in regard to changes in departments other than that of Racing Secretary. Shelley did a good job at Narragansett Park, and he would have returned to the Rhode Island track this year if he had lived. All of the other officials were not in the same fortunate position.

There are numerous posts at New England tracks that could be given to New England men. In time, these men would become experts in racing, and they could take over some of the key jobs when vacancies occurred. Other parts of the country have developed star officials, and there is no reason why New England could not do so.

Men living in New England would have a greater responsibility towards the local tracks then some of the outsiders who leave for other parts of the country as soon as a meeting is over.

Important jobs in the mutuel department should also go to New England men. There is no good reason for keeping experienced New Englanders in the lower paying jobs, while persons from other sections of the country are handed most of the plums.

Earl Gibson, by his handling of the mutuel department at Suffolk Downs last season, exploded the myth there are any mysteries about this type of work.

Ed Mason Too Light, RI Bout Banned

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 8 (AP)—Eddie Mason, Boston lightweight, was just that, too light, for his scheduled six-round preliminary bout here last night against Tony Brandino, Hamilton, Ont., welterweight.

Mason weighed 135 pounds, Brandino 148 and the Rhode Island Boxing Board refused to sanction the meeting after the two boys had been weighed.

Archie Goodby, 135-pounder from Hartford, Ct., subbed for Brandino and stopped Mason in two rounds.

Braves, Dodger Moves Hang Fire

By BILL GRIMES

NEW YORK, Feb. 8—Boston's envoys to the major-minor leagues' baseball meeting headed home today, still without anything new from either Red Sox or Braves' camps.

The Braves' management, vacated recently by Casey Stengel, still was vacant today, with Bob Coleman of the B's farm system said to retain the inside track for the job.

The major bid for the purchase of the Dodgers by the group which recently sold its holdings in the Braves was being pushed today; but indications were that the deal probably won't be completed for a month or so, due to the complications of purchasing stock held by the Ebbets heirs.

The buying group, headed by Max Meyer of Brooklyn, jewelry and plastics magnate, includes Francis Ouimet and Joe Conway of Boston, as well as Stengel.

It was learned today that the Ebbets heirs' stock in the Dodgers, totalling about 50 per cent, has had an actual price put upon it for the first time despite the many attempts during past years by various groups to buy it. The price is $800,000.

This stock is held in 15 blocks and there has been difference of opinion as to whether it can be sold by a majority vote of the holders, or whether the sale must be okayed unanimously. Surrogate court here has held that a majority vote is sufficient and this can be achieved.

If the Boston group acquires this stock, plus the 25 per cent on which it already has an option it will control some 75 per cent of the property, a comfortable margin of control.

Dodds, Hulse In BAA Mile

Renewal of the Gil Dodds-Bill Hulse mile rivalry in Saturday's B. A. A. games at the Garden was assured when the American mile record holder forwarded his entry to toe the mark with Dodds in the Hunter Mile event.

Dodds held a three-yard edge over Hulse last Saturday as he clipped the twine in 4:10.6 in the Wanamaker Mile of the Millrose games at New York.

Boston A. A. promoters are hopeful that the duel will produce a mark to better the 4:10 for the event set by Glenn Cunningham in 1938. Dodds' clocking in the Millrose event indicates, they believe, that he is ready to make his best showing in the Unicorn meeting.

Canadiens Tackle Bruins at Garden

Les Canadiens, potential Stanley Cup champions, meet the Bruins on Garden ice tonight in a National Hockey League thriller. The game will be the fourth the teams have played on Boston ice, the teams so far breaking even. They played a 2-2 tie. Bruins won 5-4 and Canadiens won 4-1. Canadiens have been steam rollering all opposition but continued improved play of the Bruins team will give the Montrealers three hectic periods.

The Bruins come off a 7-2 win over the New York Rangers in which they played their best hockey in recent weeks. This was particularly true of the stout Boston defense of Jack Crawford, Pat Egan and Dit Clapper. Bert Gardiner might have had a shutout in that game with the Rangers, and overall the Bruins were a hustling, forcing team.

Harvey "Busher" Jackson has rejoined the Bruins and he and Bill Cowley are scheduled to return to the lineup Sunday night, when the Bruins play the Detroit Red Wings. The Bruins now are in fifth place, one game back of Chicago Black Hawks. A win tonight for the Boston players would put them in a tie with the Hawks, who will have a game on hand. It will be touch and go for the Bruins if they are to land a playoff place and two points tonight would be an important step in that direction.

Alice Marble Discourses On Physical Fitness--Until

By HUCK FINNEGAN

OVAL ROOM OF THE COPLEY-PLAZA, Alice Marble about to address a feminine assembly on "Physical Fitness." None better qualified to talk on the subject than the Wimbledon champion of 1939 who five years earlier had heard French and American physicians decree: "You'll never play tennis again."

A balding, slightly corpulent, masculine reporter enters. His face is flushed. Either he's had a bad night or has a severe cold. Perhaps both. He whispers to a waiter furtively.

Alice Marble

"Of a certainty, sir," says garcon. "Right this way sir." He leads the way to the press table. The reporter fumbles a bit, plainly embarrassed—nobody at the table but society reporters.

"Will you have something, sir?" No. "Not even a cup of coffee?" No, I can't crook that little finger. Nothing but a kind word.

Alice Marble mounts the rostrum. Let the society editors describe her. But she does look as if she'd be nice to come home to.

She named the four fundamentals of physical fitness, to wit: Sleep, food, exercise and morale.

Gable Indefatigable

"I visited with Clark Gable and the late Carole Lombard during the filming of 'Gone With the Wind'," Miss Marble stated. "They told us to come early so I was there for breakfast. It was the first day Clark had to himself for months. Know how he spent it? Horseback ride before breakfast. Ditto after breakfast, topped off with some tennis. Twenty-seven holes of golf in the afternoon, climaxed by a refreshing swim. Then before dinner he tried out some of his new rifles on his shooting range. I was utterly fatigued, and I'm a trained athlete. When he suggested some night tennis after dinner, I rebelled.

"'You work strenuously. Where do you get your vitality?' I asked him in amazement. He replied: 'First of all, Carole feeds me well. But most important I sleep 9½ hours a night.'"

Women evidently like to hear about their movie idols. They were all attention when the lone male started ker-chooing. Subdued ker-choos at first, buried in a handkerchief, then a rising crescendo, climaxed by a Vesuvius eruption. Dagger-like looks from the dowagers. They came to hear a lecture, not a coughing exhibition.

Miss Marble pretended not to notice.

"H. V. Kaltenborn at 65 has boundless energy," she continued. "He works from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m., yet on week-ends he exercises as vigorously as a youngster—tennis, swimming, pitching horseshoes. He told me his secret was 10 hours sleep every night. Never goes to bed later than 10 p. m."

The reporter looked as if he could stand 10 hours sleep. The audience looked—well, as if it would blackjack him into perpetual sleep if he didn't remove himself with alacrity. What was he doing here anyway?

There was one more tender-hearted than the rest. "Try these, my poor man," she said in a motherly tone offering some licorice drops to the reporter who was scanning distance from press table to door with fluid eyes.

"Thirty per cent of those who failed to pass their army physical did so because of malnutrition," Miss Marble went on like the good soldier she is.

"A-Choo, A-Choo, Ah-Ah-Ah—CHOO!" Chairs were flung back with abandon. Skirts swished heavily to the rear. The reporter found himself shunned like a leper. Lecture on physical fitness and here he was spreading contamination. Show him the door.

"Gas rationing is a blessing in a way. It has forced us to walk more. Brisk walking has a salutary effect . . ." A-Choo! "I have been able to play little tennis the past two years. My favorite exercise is skipping rope in the bathroom . . ." A-Choo! . . . "But exercise in the sun when possible. It makes the spirit gay and happy . . ." A-Choo!

The audience was dwindling. Not because Miss Marble wasn't entertaining. She was most certainly so. Well-modulated voice . . . stage presence, poise . . . and why not after winning 16 national (4 singles) and six Wimbledon (1 singles, five doubles) championships . . . received by Queen Mary after her '39 victory over Kay Stammers, and the queen saying "Thank you for a fascinating match, and I like your cap."

"Style and make-up are morale builders" . . . Miss Marble tried gallantly to bring her lecture to a close without incident . . . "Make the most of your looks . . . 'We want our women pink, sweet and lovely,' a sergeant told me recently."

The rear-wallers liked this. They started to move back toward the dais where Miss Marble was about to begin her peroration.

"Cha-Cha-Cha . . Ah-Ah-Ah . . . A long choo-choo without the 'hurrah for Holy Cross' from the reporter, and the meeting came to an abrupt end.

Miss Marble stepped queenly from her throne. She advanced to the bundle of handkerchiefs and said compassionately:

"My good man, I felt more embarrassed than you. Just forget it all. Any questions you want answered?"

She's still a champion. And she would be nice to come home to.

White House Fails to OK Baseball

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 8 (INS)—A request for an expression from President Roosevelt "on baseball's place in the war effort alongside that of industry" today brought a guarded reply indicating that the future of the game depended entirely on the manpower situation.

The suggestion for a White House blessing of the national pastime was made to the President by J. G. Taylor Spink, publisher of the Sporting News in St. Louis. In a letter of reply, Presidential Secretary Stephen Early assured the publisher that "careful consideration" would be given to his suggestion.

BAY STATE KO STAR BIDS FOR ALLIED TITLE

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Feb. 8 (AP)—Allied pugilists of all weights and ranks began arriving today for their final tuneup for the free-for-all Allied championship bouts scheduled to start in Algiers next Monday.

Many of the fighters, pro and amateur, were pulled out of the fighting fronts especially for these bouts. Some still wore the dirt of the bitter campaigning around the Cassino (Italy) sector when they checked into fight headquarters at nearby Palm Beach, a palm-fringed rest camp by the sea commanded by 1st Lieut. C. Mark Thomas of San Antonio, Tex.

Among the first arrivals was Pvt. Walter Zippel, a light heavyweight, of Hollywood, Cal. He suffered a badly cut left eye in a prelim two weeks ago, but said it did not bother him.

Corp. Charles Sherman, of Greenville, Miss., is regarded as a dark horse in the lightweight class.

Other Americans on the scene include Sergt. Clinton Perry, heavyweight, of Maston Mills, Mass., with a record of 20 knockouts in his last 35 flights; heavyweight Horace Thompson, second class cook in the Navy, from Louisiana, who won the 1941 diamond belt title in Baltimore. He is undefeated in his last six bouts with five victories and a draw.

There will be in all 84 finalists among American, British, French, Polish, Greeks and other Allied troops. Each bout will consist of three two-minute rounds. In event of a draw an additional round will be fought.

Bambino Marks 50th Birthday

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (INS)—Babe Ruth celebrated his 50th birthday and a party for the occasion was to have been enjoyed quietly by himself, Mrs. Ruth and a few close friends.

But before it was over his apartment was packed with more than 50 persons. The Babe accidentally knocked his big birthday cake off the table while trying to cut it and he gave his views on the war and baseball to all comers in a booming voice.

"I feel almost good enough to get back in there myself right now," he said.

Nazis Fail in Attack off Anzio—Bombs loosed by German aerial attackers send up geysers of water amid Allied ships near Anzio harbor in the area of Allied beachhead south of Rome. No ships were hit . . . but some of the attacking planes were knocked down by anti-aircraft fire. Today, American and British forces, holding the Anzio beachhead against Nazi attacks, were expecting heavier enemy onslaughts.
